CLETO CHIARLI 'VECCHIA MODENA' SORBARA LAMBRUSCO

SORBARA • EMILIA ROMAGNA • ITALY • EUROPE

TECHNICAL DETAILS

The Estate

Lambrusco's history has been closely linked to that of the Chiarli family for a long time. In 1860 Cleto Chiarli founded the first wine-producing company in the Emilia-Romagna region, following the success that his homemade Lambrusco enjoyed in his 'Osteria dell'Artigliere', his restaurant in Modena.

Wine Making

Reintroduced in 2002 at a brand-new Cleto Chiarli winery, the wine is made through a single fermentation under pressure, rather than the normal two-fermentation process of almost all other sparkling wines. This is in the brut range, with minimal detectable sweetness.

TASTING NOTES

A lively Lambrusco full of mixed red-berried fruits. The ideal sparkling red wine to serve with your next plate of salumi. This comes from the area of Sorbara and the Lambruscos from this area render a ruby-colored sparkler. To open this unusual closer, slide the foil cutter of a wine key (or a butter knife) on the side of the metal clamp and gently pry it open.

Lambrusco grape blend.

This wine contains allergens, sulfites.
